Westport Volunteer Fire Department Annual BBQ Saturday, August 17th!

Your Westport Volunteer Fire Department

The Westport Volunteer Fire Department is holding its 41st Annual Fundraising Barbecue on Saturday August 17th from 12:00 Noon until 9:00PM. Enjoy an afternoon and evening of fun, great food and live music on the beautiful Westport Headlands!

Proceeds from the event help support the Westport Volunteer Fire Department, which is the primary first responder to all 911 calls for all locations accessed from Hwy 1 between Mileposts 72 through 92 (Usal Rd), and Branscomb Rd to 6 miles inland. This year's funding priority is mandatory maintenance on our engines and equipment. The main cost will be for tire replacement. WVFD has 3 engines and a rescue vehicle in current service, for a total of 24 tires. Depending on the vehicle, cost ranges between $400 and $600 per tire. Tires must be replaced based on age, not wear. We also have PPE (personal protective equipment) reaching mandatory replacement age. The WVFD needs to budget $6,000 for tires and $10,000 for PPE to be spent over the next 10 months.

Live music, the largest single day music production on the Coast, will be provided by Lost Johnson Productions and Highway One Sound, featuring several great local performers, including Steven Bates, The Mighty T-Bones, The Thorn Petals, Highway 1, Sue Sisk &

The Westport Community Garden

Steve Brigham

Now in our 8th big year, the Westport Community Garden (at the Westport Community Center at the end of Abalone Street) produces delicious and nutritious fresh, organically grown vegetables that you pick yourself at any time, ABSOLUTELY FREE! The Garden is open to EVERYONE IN THE WHOLE WORLD 24/7, and is supported by your donation dollars to the Westport Village Society.

All you have to do is get off your rear end and go pick yourself some nice fresh veggies (did I mention it's free?), and you'll be surprised how much better they taste when they're picked fresh like that compared to that days-old stuff you get from the grocery store. In August at the Westport Community Garden, we'll have romaine lettuce, butter lettuce, red leaf lettuce, baby artichokes, broccoli, arugula, Italian parsley, cilantro, onion chives, French thyme, Greek oregano, lemon balm, green kale, purple kale, Chinese snow peas, and strawberries – with beans, squash, cucumbers, and tomatoes coming along by September. Stop by the Garden frequently, and Don't Panic, It's Organic – we never ever use pesticides or chemical fertilizers 'round here, and we've got everything for you but the salad dressing!

Input Sought on The Westport Community Hall and Church

Thad Van Bueren

A community potluck meeting was held at the Church on July 20th. About 15 to 20 people attended to enjoy food and drinks while sharing ideas about how to stimulate more community use of the facilities and keep it operating in a sustainable manner. A wide range of ideas were discussed. The Westport Community Church is seeking additional input in order to develop a long term plan for maintaining and improving the facility for the benefit of the community.

Most of the WCC Board attended, including Erin Detrick, Bert Roberts, Val Hale and Thad Van Bueren. They sketched some challenges currently facing the nonprofit such as the need for sustainable funding and major termite damage that both must be addressed to ensure the facility remains available. Many ideas for activities and fundraising were discussed at the meeting. It was generally agreed that any improvements would need to build on the momentum of increasing community activities.

If you were unable to attend, please send your ideas to the WCC at PO Box 23, Westport CA 95488 or thad@mcn.org. Your thoughts on the following questions would be particularly helpful: What activities/uses would you participate in on the premises? What activities are you willing to organize and lead? Are you willing to help raise funds to keep the facilities available? Would you favor improvements in the facility or changes in how it is managed? Please be as specific as possible and get your comments to us by mid-August. The next Church Board meeting will be on Thursday, August 15th at 10:00AM at the Church. All are welcome!

Art Crone, Bill Knapp, and Gary Quinton working on the Westport Cemetery plot marking project

An Update on Local Cemeteries

Thad Van Bueren

Our local cemeteries are treasured places that require regular maintenance and management. That obviously doesn't happen by magic. It is carried out by dedicated local volunteers under the direction of the County's Westport Ten Mile Cemetery District. The Directors are appointed by the County Supervisors and currently consist of Gary Quinton, Jane Vartanian, John Allison, Steve Brigham, and Thad Van Bueren. The positions are unpaid.

The Cemetery Board wants to make you aware of tasks that are being performed because your help is vital and much appreciated. The District relies heavily on volunteers and donations, in addition to carefully managing Trust assets generated by plot sales. Plots are still just $600 for a 4x8 foot area that can be used for a single burial or entombing several cremains. In addition to the work of managing finances, records, and policies, the Board relies on community volunteers for projects and maintenance. For example, Jim Korhummel recently did an outstanding job weed eating and mowing the Westport Cemetery.

A road realignment project began July 5th in the Westport Cemetery with the generous assistance of Steve Brown, the owner of the Wages Creek Campground. Steve used his own equipment to move the gravel base rock onto the new route between the front gate and marble gazebo. The road will be top dressed with some additional gravel in the near future and a concrete block will be moved outside of the perimeter fence. Thanks Steve for your help!

Work also began on July 30th on a large project to permanently mark the corners of all plots in the actively used portions of the Westport and Inglenook cemeteries. This will ensure that plot limits are exactly known instead of measured approximately from survey monuments each time a new burial is scheduled. The plot marking project is being underwritten with a generous donation from Lee Tepper and Dorine Real. This precision work will be ongoing at the two cemeteries until it is completed sometime this fall. Rebar stakes are being driven into each corner, then topped with aluminum caps stamped with the plot numbers. Volunteers Thad Van Bueren, Gary Quinton, Bill Knapp, John Morrill, Art Crone, and Steve Brigham have begun the plot marking project at the Westport Cemetery – caution tape has been placed around the current work area for your safety, and we appreciate your patience while this work is being completed.

Behind the scenes, an inventory of all existing occupied and sold plots in the District has been created in a comprehensive spreadsheet. That inventory was compiled in response to several recent developments. First, the Chapel By The Sea in Fort Bragg needed to decline to continue managing the records for the Cemetery District, which they had long done in the past. Secondly, the County Counsel provided an opinion on what types of information had to be maintained. Because available records have some gaps, we welcome volunteers who are interested in carrying out supplemental research.

Work is also planned to accurately map the Inglenook Cemetery prior to plot marking. That work will include transcription of all monuments for inclusion in the inventory. If you are interested in volunteering for any of the tasks mentioned in this article, please contact me at 964-7272 or thad@mcn.org.

Minke Whales are noted for approaching boats and ships out of curiosity – sadly, this one probably died because of a collision with a ship's propeller.

Strandings

Thad Van Bueren

Several marine mammals have washed up dead on local beaches this summer. It is hard to determine if the events are typical or extraordinary. The first was a 13 foot long male (bull) elephant seal that washed up on Eddie White Beach at the Westport Headlands Park on June 30th or perhaps earlier. A dead whale later washed ashore on Blues Beach at Chadbourne Gulch south of Westport on July 4th. Both strandings were investigated by Sarah Grimes, the local stranding coordinator at the Noyo Center for Marine Science in Fort Bragg.

Sarah says the cause of death for the elephant seal is uncertain, while the 25-foot whale at Blues Beach was likely killed by a propeller strike. The whale is a male Northern Pacific Minke Whale or lesser rorqual (Balaenoptera acutorostrata). Minke whales are one of the smallest baleen whales that filter feed on krill and small fish, travelling widely in the north Pacific Ocean. Minke whales typically live from 30 to 60 years and can grow to more than 30 feet long. The only after the Blue whale. The Westport Village Society obtained a permit to recover and display the mandible and baleen from that 2007 fin whale. Plans are being developed for an exhibit of these artifacts at the Westport Headlands Park.

The Noyo Center for Marine Science in Fort Bragg and the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco respond to any dead marine mammal washed ashore between Rockport and the Santa Cruz county line. They are members of the Marine Mammal Stranding Network. Dead animals offer scientists the opportunity to learn about the health of marine mammal populations and the threats they face. By collecting specimens and performing necropsies, scientists gather valuable data about marine mammal migration patterns, habitat threats, and human impacts to inform conservation.

To report live marine mammals in distress, please contact the Marine Mammal Center at (415) 289-7325. Report Dead Marine Mammals to Noyo Center's Stranding Coordinator, Sarah Grimes at (707)-813-7925 or sarah@noyocenter.org.
